A CARRED WIL TUBBAR. $20 FISH GUANO. $20 PER TON OF 2000 LBS. $20 I am now prepared to furnish the above valuable tertilizer at the low price of $20 per ton of 2000 lbs, delivered on cars or boats. It is in its crude state, and farmers in want had botter order early, so they can propare it for fall seeding. There is nothing in this guano but the pure fish with the oil extracted (which is said by all chemists to be no fertilizer.) I can refer to those I sold it to last spring, most of whom have already sect in their orders for more to use on their wheat.

THE NORTHWEST PASSAGE ACCOMPLISHED. The steamer Vegs, with Professor Nordenskjold, the Arctic explorer, and his company, arrived at Yokohama, Japan, last Tuesday, September 2, with all hands well and not having had a single death on the expedition. This expadition, the expenses of which were borne by Mr. Osoar Dickson, the Swedish government, King Oscar and Mr. Alexander Schiarakoff. has succeeded in its undertaking, which was to establish the possibility of reaching Bahring Strait by the Arctic Sea. The Vega left Gothenburg. July 4, 1878, and with the Lina, owned by Mr. Sibtarakoff, which, accampanied her as far as the River Lana, passed through the Yugar Strait, south of Nova Zembla, on August 5. On August 18 the North Cape of Asia was reached and nine days later the vessels arrived safely at the mouth of the Lana. 10 January the Vega was reported ice-bound ferry miles from East Cape, gomo 350 miles from Bebring strait. Several statements have since been published to the effect that the expedi-tion had reached the Pacific, but no definite information has been obtained until the receipt of the above dispatch. It may be added that one object of the expedition was to establish trade with the people on the bank of the Lines. river. The New York Herald sage: "The expedition is one of the remarkable svenesses in Arctic exploration. It will be memorable for the ease and safety with which it accomplished a royage which it had been left for the present generation of men to make for the first time. The parratives of the many provious attempts that have been made to solve the question of the northeast pessage are told in an interesting los ter from the pen of the Danish geographer, Ersler, whose parrative shows very clearly the advantages that the modern Arctic explorers enjoy over the earlier pavigators. The fate of the Russian captain, Scholauroff, reminds one of that of Franklio. Leaving the mouth of the river Lena, in 1760, with a small vessel built there, he succeeded that year in reaching the river Jans. Next year be succeeded in rounding the Sviatol Nos, or Holy Cape, and sought winter quarters at the mouth of the river Kolyma. Next year he only reached Cape Schlelagskol, when his crew muticied, and he had to return to Kolyma and to Russia. 'Thue,' as Professor Nordenski old says, 'cheso

NOVEL TREATMENT OF CROUP. - According to Les Mondes Dr. Darodie has saccassfall; treated a case of croup in a obiid saven years old by scraping the laryox. The method is to introduce rapidly the left index finger into the pharyox, so as more surely to reach the upper laryogeal opening; then, with the right hand, a pisos of curved whalebone is introduced, hav ing a small piece of sponge fixed at the end, soaked in tepid water. After three or four movements up and down the instrument was quickly withdraws, this being done three different times at each seance. The sponge was covered each time with debris of falso membranes. The instrument has a reflex as well as a mechanical action, causing spasmodio movements, which provokes the ejection of the fals;

A FATAL RED SHAWL .-- The danger from wearing red in the presence of bullocks, as well as bulls, was illustrated in the fate of a negre woman who lived in this county, on the Russell road, about 7 miles from Lazington. While passing through a pasture near her home she attracted the attention of a herd of cattle, who seemed to be entaged at the sight of a red shawi which she was wearing. She became alarmed and started to run away, when the whole herd gave chase. After running a short distance she fell exhausted. Parties who witpersed the chase burried to the rescus of the woman, and even in time to prevent the cattle from running over her after she fell, but she died from the effects of her fright while being
